

Australian Federal Government COVID Enquiry

To the COVID Enquiry Select Panel and whom it may concern,

By electronic submission and post

Please find attached response to the COVID Enquiry (undated on submission page), and publicly 7 days prior to 15 December 2023. This response has been compiled on behalf of the peoples of Australia, New Zealand and the World. A copy of this submission will also be provided to Sachs et al under the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, the Ministry of Barbados, and all other indigenous and traditional peoples nations.

As the panel members chosen by the Australian Government, you are all now the PCBU's in the COVID Enquiry and under legislative instruments such as but not limited to Workplace Health and Safety Acts, Regulations and Codes of Practice, you are on notice that you will be held accountable for all materials and representations made from this enquiry. You must act in the best interests of all stakeholders with a focus on consumers under Australian Consumer Law. Any liability will not be waived and under recent WHS Acts and Regulations amendments, charges of manslaughter, incarceration and/or other remedies as prescribed under the jurisdiction of the Workplace Ombudsman with apply to all and sundry.

The COVID Enquiry was released on XX September 2023 with a close date of 15 December 2023. You must conduct a public survey, with public advertising to assess the population's knowledge of this activity. The public survey must be transparent and attract at least 80% of people registered with the AEC and state Electoral Commissions, and all data must be presented through the ABS for evaluation and reporting within a 3 month period. It may be that this enquiry must be extended for a period of 18 months. During this timeframe, there are many changes which must be implemented to above further prosecutions as mentioned in the introductory paragraph.

It must be publicly noted and advised that there has been changes in the descriptions of all pharmaceutical interventions and materials. The initial PCR equipment manual must be made publicly known, alongside all RAT information with online training modules for use to be updated properly with patient insert and consumer marketing information and communication for impaired. B1.1.37 from the initial PCR gene database from South Africa was statistically insignificant (approximately 13,000 entries) benefiting the Rockefeller University and Foundation. This has now extrapolated to Omicron variants and many other issues. The North Carolina University and MDI Laboratory partnership have produced the Chemical Toxigenomics Database, where there is 180 known diseases from current vaccination treatments. People must also be advised of MESH information and the differences between the flu and coronaviruses for example.
