Re: Commonwealth Government COVID-19 Response Inquiry Terms of Reference

Dear Officer,

SUBMISSION

Australia and Australians deserve a full inquiry into the response to the Covid pandemic. As this was the first time in our living history that we had a pandemic it would be prudent to ensure we make objective assessments to the response and its effect on the whole population.

I firmly believe there was a definite overreach and reaction to a virus with a death rate lower than the average annual influenza season. Australians need to know who was responsible for the hysteria.

As a woman with a 20-year career in general nursing the mandated masking, social distancing, alcohol based hand sanitizing and lockdowns were not based on any historic science. Isolation of potential carriers is common sense but not in the format it took, you could catch an Uber/taxi from the airport, stop at the shops to do your grocery shopping then isolate for 14 days is ridiculous.

The PCR testing was not specific to the Covid virus and [REDACTED] the inventor of the test was the first person to admit to that. What cycles were the laboratories using to produce the results they got?

Although these were mandated on a state level our constitutional human rights were ignored and allowed to continue with no handbrake from the Federal Government.

The Federal government purchased 255 million doses of "experimental vaccines" for a population of 25 million. Who lobbied for that number and who is accountable for that wastage of now expired vials?

Australia needs to know if the state Premiers, health officer etc were compromised on their decision making for profit, whether it was directly to them or close family members as was rumoured in many chat rooms and on social media.

People in the medical industry were threatened for even questioning the management, others were punished and ridiculed by APHRA and the TGA if they continued to question or offer alternative treatments to the mandates or the vaccines.

People with vaccine injuries have been poorly compensated for temporary and lifelong injuries, we are yet to see the numbers of side effects that are potentially going to show up in coming months and years. Those in the medical fraternity who went along with the government narrative without questioning will not be good advisors to people asking for help with the potential side effects of these vaccines.

The economic fallout for small to medium size business needs to be investigated. As a small business owner in the past, I know my business would not have survived. Although it was a successful business, I know I would not have been able to continue to pay all my regular bills to keep me afloat until state governments decided it was safe for me to re-open.

I was personally terminated from my employment for declining to have an experimental injection/vaccine, I could not get any back up from government run agencies like Work Safe and Fair Work Australia, the Federal govt was saying we had a choice but state governments took away our choice As a result my working reputation has been tarnished and the job that was going to take me to retirement has impacted me to the sum of [REDACTED] impacting my actual retirement.

Present day average death rate of all cause mortality in Australia is well above average and not being investigated impartially to see if it is related to the experimental vaccines.

Even today the Covid “vaccines” are being encouraged although their prevention of Covid is minimal and Covid is only a threat to the usual cohorts of the elderly or those with co morbidities who would succumb to the annual influenza death statistic.

Australia deserves an impartial full investigation of how the last few years have transpired and who made the decisions and how will they be accountable for what they have done.

Regards,

Rosal Mullins
