

In December 2020 the following facts were known about Covid-19 without a reasonable doubt:

- The infection fatality rate (IFR) for the entire population was less than 1%.
- The IFR for anyone under 55 was 0.01% or lower.
- The IFR for children was near zero

With this information available how on earth could the government's response be justified- medically, economically and socially there was no need for emergency lockdowns which prevented families being with loved ones. Closures of schools and mask wearing had no scientific benefit and the issue of no informed consent in relation to vaccine mandates needs to be investigated

People died due to the false advertising of safe and effective and those who suffered injuries need to be supported. The government and its advisers got it wrong!
